'King of Kings' Scheduled For Easter Showing Here Sunday

Under sponsorship of the Associated Students, the Warner Brothers' film epic, "King of Kings," will be shown in Frederic Burk auditorium on Palm Sunday, April 6, at 7:30 p.m. There wil be no admission charge.

"King of Kings," a film portrayal of the life of Christ, was first shown in 1927 and has since been reissued many times upon popular demand. It has been lauded as one of the most magnificent films of all time and is considered to be Cecil B. DeMille's greatest triumph.

The picture, which stars H. B. Warner as Christ and Joseph Schildkraut as Judas, features a cast of thousands, required a year to produce, and is in technicolor, all in the famous De Mille tradition of motion picture production.

Many of the great biblical scenes are reproduced on the screen in "King of Kings" — The Last Supper, The Crucifixion, The Ressurrection, Judas' betrayal of Christ, and the Healing of Mary Magdalen, the wanton.

The showing of the film here on Palm Sunday will be the first of a classic films series to be presented free to students of the college during the semester.

Other films being sought for presentation are "Ben Hur," "The Shiek," "Son of the Shiek," "The Great Train Robbery," and "The Ten Commandments."

One-Act Plays Start 3 Day Run Tomorrow

Tomorrow night at 8:30 in Frederic Burk auditorium the curtain will go up on three student-directed plays as the second drama production of the season begins its three-day run. The three plays scheduled include Tennessee Williams' one-act play, "This Property is Condemned," the classic farce "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," and an original drama by Edmund Reynolds called "Weighed and Measured."

"This Property is Condemned" is under the direction of Virginia Cox and stars Virginia Chesse and Jim Thursby. The play is essentially a character study of a pathetic little girl. Through her conversation with a small boy, the audience learns of her sordid surroundings and is given an insight into her future which looks equally sordid. Tennessee Williams tells it with the poetic dramaturgy and overwhelming compassion that has made his "Glass Menagerie" and "A Streetcar Named Desire" so haunting and unforgettable.

DUMB WIFE

Dan Whiteside is directing the second play, "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," in which Kenny O'Hara and Marjorie Werby have the leading roles. O'Hara is starred as the man who has his beautiful wife (Marjorie Werby) cured of her dumbness, and then cannot get her to stop talking. Also featured in the cast are Dion Chesse, Doris Allen, Shirley Strom, Doug Miller, Joe Carrillio, and Dale Amacker.

The third play of the evening is an original play written and directed by Edmund Reynolds. The action takes place in hell, where five people of completely different backgrounds meet. Playwright Reynolds' theme is that each person by his thoughts and actions creates his own hell. Starred in this drama are Audrey Anthe, Joe Marchi, Preble Stauter, Ed Zeni, and Luisa Hepper.

Old Campus Urged For State Fair Site as Economy Measure

What started out as a discussion by the Board of Control of a $1,260 budget for the May 9 State Fair turned into a debate on whether the fair budget might not be cut considerably by changing the site of the fair from the new campus to the old one.

In submitting the record budget for the fair at the new campus, Willis Wood, activities commissioner, urged the board to consider the potential savings which would be effected by moving the site of the fair to the old campus.

"Facilities here are 10 times greater than at the new campus," said Wood, referring to the partially completed Lake Merced campus. "Holding the fair here would cut costs tremendously and cut down the administrative work," he added.

STUDENT FAIR

Wood also stressed that bringing the fair to the old campus would keep it on a student level. To illustrate this Wood pointed out that publicity for the fair, now budgeted for $250, including television advertising, could be cut to less than $50 if the fair were kept on a student level. An additional $200, earmarked for a drama show at the fair, could be saved if the fair were held on this campus. According to Wood, the drama department already has a program scheduled for production in Frederic Burk auditorium on the night of the fair. This would eliminate the cost of a special second production at the new campus on the night of the fair.

Considering the fact that more students attend classes on the old campus than on the new, Wood told the board the fair would attract a larger crowd here than at Lake Merced. "Why have a State Fair away from where all the students are?" commented Dean of Women Dorothy Wells.

Robert Katz, administrator of student affairs, reminded the board of the record 1,000 attendance at last year's fair at the new campus.

MONEY OR ACTIVITY

Bob Tyson, board member, brought attention back to the aim of the fair by asking the board, "Is the motive of the fair making money or providing an activity for the students?" Referring to the allotment for publicity, Harry Redlick, chairman of the board, stated, "I don't feel there's a need for $250 if we're running it as a student project."

Wood explained that the $250 figure included posters, radio and television time.

MORE DISCUSSION

Further discussion was tabled to allow Wood an opportunity to discuss the aspects of both sites with his group and sound out their opinions. Following the meeting Wood stated, "We'd be better off holding the fair on the old campus. It's too big a job for a bunch of students to stage the fair at the new campus."

Wood is to give the board a report on his group's decision on a site at the regular meeting of the Board of Control tomorrow at 1 p.m. in Hut 4B.—V. S.

Dylan Thomas Will Speak Here Friday

Noted Poet to Appear In Special Presentation

Mr. Dylan Thomas, distinguished Welsh poet, will read from his poetry in a special presentation here Friday, April 4, at 8 p.m. in A210.

Mr. Thomas, who is currently on a speaking tour of the United States, sponsored by the New York Poetry Center, is the author of "Poems," "In Country Sleep," and "A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Dog." He is also recognized as one of the foremost contemporary short story writers.

ENGLISH BROADCASTS

A resident of Carmarthenshire, Wales, Mr. Thomas, has also made films in England and Persia for the British government. He is also popular with his broadcasts over B. B. C.

While in the United States, the poet will appear at Columbia University, Harvard University, George Washington University, University of Chicago, University of Vancouver, the San Francisco Museum of Art, and the University of California.

HOUSE GUEST HERE

During his stay here, he and Mrs. Thomas will be the house guests of Professor S. Ruth Witt-Diamant, who says of him, "Dylan Thomas is one of those rare creatures that you recognize as a bard—a little difficult, odd, but unmistakably convincing once he begins to make poetry."

All State students, faculty and friends are invited to hear Mr. Thomas.—By Cec Riley.

Religious Conference This Weekend at Santa Cruz

A conference in the Santa Cruz mountains is on the Collegiate Christian Fellowship calendar for this weekend. The conference which will last from 8 p.m. April 4 to noon April 6, will consist of informal talks and discussions on "What is the difference between being 'religious' and living a vital Christianity?"

The answer is intended to be a clear explanation of what Christianity is. Cost of attending the conference is $6. Those desiring a ride or information, should call Jeanne Neal, Market 1-5118 by April 2. Everyone is invited to attend.

Art Films to Run Tuesday

The Art Faculty and the Art Federation will sponsor the showing of three new art films on April 8, at 1 p.m. in Frederic Burk auditorium.

The film trio presented will include "Miro Makes a Color Print," "Fra Angelico at San Marco," and "Three Paintings by Bosch."

FREE DANCE SET FOR REC CENTER TOMORROW

Another free dance will be held at the Rec Center tomorrow at 1 p.m. The dance will feature the music of the Air Force R.O.T.C. dance band.

Ken Azbill and Maurice Besse Resign IRC Posts

Kenneth Azbill, chairman of the International Relations Club, and Maurice Besse, C.A.A. representative from I.R.C., resigned from their posts at a general meeting of the I.R.C. held March 27.

Vice-chairman Elias Nani replaced Azbill as chairman. The new C.A.A. representative for the club will be named at a later date.

Plans for future lectures by outstanding speakers on current world problems and an international ball to be held in May were discussed during the meeting.

Following the meeting, a reception and tea was held in the Activities Room for members and interested students.

Board Approves New $550 Allotment For Band Tour

A special allotment of $550 for this year's band tour was approved by a 3-2 vote of the Board of Control when it met on March 27. A 2-2 tie vote was broken by an affirmative vote from Chairman Harry Redlick.

The funds were requested by the creative arts division to meet tour expenses, which will exceed the annual budget. The appropriation will be charged against the creative arts division budget for next term.

Recreation Class Tours Television Station KPIX

The Recreation 1 class toured television station KPIX Monday. Some of the students participated on the Lee Girioux "Meet the Missus" program.

Barbara Anderson won five dollars on the quiz portion of the program, and Randell Ramsey was selected as the "Good Neighbor of the Week." Others participating were Frances Brechenridge, Ann Harvey, and Martell Seibert.

14 State Delegates On Way to Model UN

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt to Address Opening Session

Fourteen State College delegates left today for Los Angeles for the second annual Model United Nations Conference, which opens this afternoon at the University of Southern California. The meeting will see delegates from 60 colleges and universities of the 11 western states participating in the activities.

This year, San Francisco State will represent and take the position of the Iranian delegation at the conference, which is sponsored by the Collegiate Council for the United Nations in conjunction with the Student World Affairs Council.

DELEGATION CHAIRMAN

Chairman of the delegation from State will be Mohammed Kamaly, a graduate student from Iran.

Other State students taking on the roles of delegates and representatives from Iran will be Sahib Aljasim, chairman of the economic and social council. He is a native of Iraq, as is Mohammed Saffar, who will act as a delegate.

OFFICIAL DELEGATES

Elias Nani, Ken Azbill, Jean Martens, Joan Schatz, Joe Vilardo, Andy Bisbee, Olivia Clement, Murte Alexander, and Armando Silver will also serve as official delegates to the conference.

Acting as observer for the Associated Students will be Joe DeVictoria, while Dean Dorothy E. Wells will act as faculty adviser.

ROOSEVELT ADDRESS

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will address the first session of the Model UN this afternoon. This event is scheduled to be televised.

The group has expressed the hope that they, as Iranian delegates, will be allowed to take part in an emergency session of the Security Council. Each year a surprise issue is announced and the council goes into an emergency meeting.

The delegates will return to the Bay Area at the conclusion of the conference late Sunday evening.

Yearbook Staff Meeting

There will be a meeting of all members of the Yearbook staff, Journ. 103.1, in Hut 2A Thursday, April 3, at 2 p.m., according to Mr. Ray N. Doyle, journalism advisor. All students are urged to attend.

We're Asking For Trouble Again

We're asking for trouble again if current plans are carried out for staging the annual State Fair at the new campus at a cost of $1,260. Last year we learned, the proverbial hard way, that fairs take plenty of preparation and hard work, yet right now we're asking for an even larger headache than last year's by trying to plan a bigger event in less than two months' time.

In order to avoid a repetition of the confused fair staged last spring with hardly more than two weeks' planning, as well as to profit by that error, plans for the new campus fair should be abandoned in favor of a fair here on the old campus. In the short time remaining, a much better event could be planned and executed on this campus than could be arranged out at Lake Merced. Far better to have a good fair on this campus, on a smaller scale, than to go out to the new campus and have the far-flung, confused sort of fair we had last year.

Actually, at this time the old campus offers a more desirable site for the fair. The compact quarters here lend themselves more readily to a fair than do those at the partially-completed new campus. Perhaps even more important, a larger number of students still attend classes here than at the new campus, and fair attendance figures should accordingly climb even higher than last year's record attendance.

Financially, a fair at this campus would cut the proposed budget by approximately $800. In a period of deficit budgets, this factor alone should warrant using the old campus for the fair.

A fair here would be easier to arrange at this date, attract more students (which should be the aim), cut expenses tremendously, and make the whole activity easier on the drama, music and other departments concerned since they are still located on this campus and would not have to direct activities by "remote control."

Holding the fair on this campus would offer at least a strong possibility of success; a fair at the new campus could only succeed partially as last year's did.

A fair, to be a credit to the college and the student body, should be planned on a yearly basis much as a yearbook or any other similar activity. Only by planning on a yearly basis can we achieve anything worthwhile. Until we do that kind of planning, we can't hope to stage a successful fair at the new campus.

"Wise Stater"

Little Things Do Count

By Al Pardini

Thought for the day: Instead of doing one big thing in life, why not do quite a few little things?

And so, with that thought in mind, I shall go ahead and write this thing that some people call a column.

First small but big item which we shall take care of is the problem of the Child Care Center. About a week ago I mentioned in this column that the Child Center wanted some of your old and pretty clothes for the little kids so that they would have a larger wardrobe with which to play "grown-ups." The story was written in a light hearted manner, and that is the reason, I presume, why there was no response whatsoever to the plea for the old clothes.

HIGH CLASS STUFF

Well, to satisfy you college people who won't read anything that isn't of the hoi polloi type of literature, I have written the above paragraph in perfect grammatical form. Now that I have presumably satisfied you, won't you please get off that dusty thing and get those clothes to the Child Center so's those little kids can play like they are grown-ups like all you dear readers? (the little fools)

Item number two on the agenda is a little story told by a member of the track team. "Last week during the three day holiday I was working out at the new campus. It was about 1:30 in the afternoon and I was disrobing to take a shower. (Hope that sentence didn't shock any of you.) Well, I, practically nude (tsk, tsk) was talking with Mr. Dawes, the man in charge of the men's gym, when a door opened, a pitter-patter of feet was heard, a woman instructor walked by peered at Mr. Dawes, and, in a tone which is hard to describe, asked, "Is this the men's gym?" Mr. Dawes, in an awed tone of voice, merely replied, "Yes, ma'am." And she walked on."

IT'S SPRING AGAIN

Item number three on the agenda is the weather. The sun is shining. You are sitting in a class with an enrollment of 50 students. Fifteen are present... The instructor doesn't take roll. In 25 words or less tell me what you think of yourself for having come to class on such a nice day.

Again, it is another warm day. You have a class in a hole in the wall in Anderson Hall. Your class lets out five minutes early. What do you do? You rush out to the rally bowl to get in on the last minutes of Mr. Lombardi's sun-bathed Italian class.

The last morsel of philosophy on which I am about to expound has something to do with the weather, too. It's a hot day. As a matter of fact it's a very, very hot day. All of the students go to class in summer clothes. Cool clothes. Shirt collars open. Nice cotton dresses. What do the instructors do? Why of course, they come to class with their suits on, a pinching collar, a tight tie and maybe even a vest. The women instructors are the same, only their accessories have different names. Does being dressed properly distinguish between the intelligent professors and the uncouth youth, or does it show that the profs are gluttons for punishment?

Lecture Course In Parliamentary Law Televised

Television, as a medium of formal education, made its debut in San Francisco recently. A lecture course in parliamentary law called "Come to Order" is currently being televised over station KPIX on Thursdays at 1 p.m.

Dr. Lloyd Luckmann, dean of instruction at City College is the instructor for the course. The program is conducted under classroom conditions with a "live" student audience at the studio. The course will be 15 weeks long, and a final examination will be given to registered viewers at the end of this period. Examinations will then be sent in and college credit will be given to those who pass the course.

Further information can be obtained from Dr. Luckman at City College or from the program director at television station KPIX.

Fisk to Speak Today at Parent-Faculty Meeting

Dr. Alfred Fiske will speak on "India, My Impressions and Experiences" at the regular meeting of the Parent-Faculty Club today at 1:30 p.m. in the Activities Room.

Dr. Dorothy E. Wells, dean of women, will present "Campus News."

Mrs. T. R. Hopman, president of the Parent-Faculty club, urges students to invite their mothers to the meeting which will include a tea and social hour.

Membership in the Parent-Faculty club is open to parents and teachers. Major objectives of the club are promoting favorable publicity for the college, and cooperating with the administration in student welfare work.

REDEFINITION

Dear Editor:

In penning this "crank" letter I want to make certain that I am not misunderstood. Possibly, through a reply to this letter I may find out why the president of our college is so concerned with athletics.

I fully recognize the importance of athletics in our competitive society. I feel it is helpful for emphasis to be placed on sports. But where does a college president fit into the picture? I have been led to believe that the administrative head of an institution rating as high as San Francisco State College does in the field of General Education, elementary teacher-training, and its curriculum for handling the exceptional child, would have his work cut out for him. The march should go forever onward and upward in the academic field. But alas, every time I pick up an issue of the Golden Gater I find the name of President Leonard linked with one athletic confab or another. Maybe I am naive, but I was truly shocked when I scanned the list of representatives to a recent State College convention who were assembled for the purpose of forming a new conference. Heading the list was the name of J. Paul Leonard, president of San Francisco State College. Of all the state colleges represented ours was the only one that sent a president. The others sent either a dean of men or the head of the athletic department.

Yours for a redefinition of the duties and the responsibilities of a college president,

Box 1922.

BURNING SPIRIT

Editor:

In the column, "Looking Around," Mr. Preble advises us to, humpf, "get off your duff" and join a fraternity. In his feverish pitch for the service fraternities and sororities there is a less formal organization which I am sure he knows nothing about. I am speaking for the Kappa Sigma Beta, or Coffee Shop Buddies. Here, brotherhood is the watchword. Here burns the spirit of State College.

Here, eat and sleep the perpetuators of our destiny amidst the joy and abandon of a bohemian cafe the smoky intensity of a gambling house. Here, blushing ears twinkle to the profundities of undiscovered intellects.

As self-appointed spokesman for the Kappa Sigma Beta let me invite you all to join. There are great opportunities here: meet contacts which will lead to later success in business; develop social habits that will stand you in good stead in the great life outside (outside coffee shop); make friends; overcome your inhibitions—have a cup of coffee. Cordially,

Manuel Joffe.

State Baseballers Drop Three, Win One

Lose to Treasure Island, 4-3; Fire Dept., 13-12; Cal Poly, 6-1; Beat Moffet Flyers in 11-3 Runaway

Coach Dick Boyle's baseball team had a busy week playing four games in four days. In the four game series they: lost to Treasure Island 4-3 on Wednesday; beat Moffet Field 11-3 on Thursday in what probably was the best played game of the series; lost to the S. F. Fire Department in a 11-3 slugfest; and lost to Cal Poly, giving State a .250 average for the week.

The Cal Poly game found the locals garnering their only run in the first inning, and that came off the bat of leadoff hitter Cal Larson, who rammed a homerun deep over the fence. Cal Poly scored 2 unearned runs off of starter Niel McDowell in their half of the first, added 2 more in the fourth, and got their final 2 runs in the sixth off of Roger Martin, who relieved McDowell.

According to Coach Dick Boyle, Cal Poly had a well rounded club which should do all right against their scheduled competition. The headman went on to say that he is pleased with the progress his team has made but hastened to add that he is concerned about his pitching staff, stating "We have to improve our pitching vastly if we are to have a fairly successful season."

Racketeers Beat Broncos; Bow to San Jose Spartans

State's tennis team outstroked the Santa Clara Broncos 6-3 at Santa Clara on Friday, then returned home to be handed an 8-1 shellacking by a superior team from San Jose State.

The boys played good tennis in both matches, and it was no disgrace losing to the Spartan team as they were meeting one of the strongest college tennis teams in the state.

Policemen Muscle S. F. Golfers, 27-0

The local fairway crew took a few lessons in the grand olde Scotch game of golf last Thursday as they were humbled 27-0 by a parshooting aggregation from the S. F. Police Dept. The gendarmes, led by veteran Johnny Maughn, played their usual flawless game. The home club boys, although badly outscored, played some of their best golf of the season.

"Irish" Pat O'Leary, of boxing renown, was medalist for State with a respectable 81. Jim Coltrell, Gator number two man, scrambled his way to an 83. Other Staters who played in the match were Joe Willis, George Shandra, Bob Boyd, and Richard Briggs.

Yesterday the Gators played host to the Broncos from Santa Clara at Harding Park Municipal Course.

Cindermen Down Sacramento

Shettler, Clayton, Berensmeier Pace Thinclads to 97-33 Victory

By Herb Colton

Paced by Freddie Berensmeier, "Gator Track Man of the Week," the San Francisco State varsity thinclads went on to down Sacramento State in a dual track meet last Saturday afternoon in the Capitol city. The locals produced a host of double winners in downing the valley thinclads by a 97½ to 33½ count.

Sophomore Berensmeier showed real class and stamina by breaking into the win column early in the day with a 5' 10" leap in the high jump. Berensmeier went on to break the tape in the 120-yard high hurdles in the fair early season time of 16.2. This is the best time the Gator ace has posted to date. Berensmeier closed out his high scoring performance with a second place in the low hurdles.

Other double winners were Earl Clayton in the 100 and 220 and Jim Shettler in the mile and two mile events. The Gators posted a one-two in the two shorter dashes and the four and eight lap events. Clayton was followed to the tape by Len Posey in the 100 and the furlong. Freshman Lynn Ludlow offered little competition to Shettler but pushed the latter to a good time of 10.34 in the two mile run.

Coach Ray Kaufman's middle distance runners are showing signs of rounding into shape as Vic Gipson continued his winning ways by again copping the 440 yard dash. In the first meet of the season Gipson had things all his own way as he left the field far behind. This meet saw Bob Lualhati, last year's local high school sensation, close the gap on Gipson to bring the odds down on morning-line favorite to cop honors in the next outing.

The Gators displayed a little more strength in the field events as performances were up generally over the marks of the previous week. Helpful to the cause of the weight man was the appearance of Dees. The frosh behemoth garnered a first in the javelin with a throw of 159 feet in the javelin in his initial performance.

Other Gator winners were Bobby Frelowe in the 880 and supple Herb Anderson in the discus flip. The locals swept the pole vault with Bruce Duncan, Ira Call, and Jim Olson tieing for first at 11' 6".

The relay produced the most exciting race of the day as Vic Gipson took the baton on the anchor lap 40 yards back of the field. In a fantastic burst of speed, Gipson gained back a fraction less than the full total. He failed by inches to break the tape.

Soufi Chosen For Top Mural Honors

Al Soufi, winner of the 177 lb. division, was judged the outstanding novice wrestler of the year by the intramural staff last week. He won the title as a result of the exceptional skill and grace that he exhibited in his matches.

Al will have his name inscribed on the Bert Gustafson trophy as a perpetual reminder of his wrestling prowess.

The results of other final matches held on Thursday, March 20, were: 130 lb.—Padilla decisioned Scullen; 137—Torro won by forfeit; 147—Paoli won by forfeit; 157—Berensmeier pinned Thurling in the second round; 167—Kashavaroff decisioned Hanson; 177—Soufi decisioned Alexander; 191—Simmons pinned Jacobs in the second; heavyweight — Rodk pinned Anderson in the first round.

Badminton competition will begin soon, according to manager Ralph Chin. Team managers are urged to contact Ralph as soon as possible through the intramural office at the new campus.

Watch this column for starting date for Intramural Horseshoe competition.

Swimmers Dip Treasure Island, 56-28

Last Thursday night the "salt water sailors" from Treasure Island journeyed to S. F. State's home pool with high hopes and a determination to avenge an earlier defeat this season at the hands of the Gator mermen. The men of Uncle Sam's Navy went away unavenged. In fact, they were walloped by a score of 58 to 26 in a meet that saw the State swimmers grab 7 out of 10.

This week the Hardenites find themselves faced with a busy schedule. Tomorrow they will travel to Berkeley to meet the power-laden University of California J. V.'s. The Cal club humbled the locals by a score of 50-26 earlier in the season.

On Friday, Coach Harden will send some of his more promising swimmers to the state college meet. This event will be held at San Jose State's own pool and will be open to all state colleges in California.

California Daily Newspaper In Hot Water With Regents

A source of great controversy across the bay at the University of California centers around the campus daily newspaper, the Daily Californian. It is difficult to discover what the real question is, but the facts of the case are known to most U. C. students.

Near the end of the fall semester the Daily Cal printed three articles of the "I have just returned from the Soviet Union" type, more or less praising the Communist states of Europe. These were not written by staff writers, but were accepted by the Californian as signed contributions. An equal number of articles were printed denouncing the USSR and activities.

READING REGENT

The pro-Soviet articles caught the attention of one of the university regents, who was shocked to find the Daily Cal printing "Communist propaganda." A great deal of noise was made at the regents' meeting, and some action had to be taken to cool them down. It was generally agreed that it would be better if this action were to come from the Daily Cal itself.

But the executive committee of the Associated Students decided they would take the action. At a special meeting, a proposal was presented to give the paper a day-to-day advisor and an advisory board, to "advise" on matters of content and editorial policy. Although legally the executive committee had to wait one week for student body reactions before passing bills on the matter of policy, they went ahead and passed it.

PRESIDENTIAL ACTION

President Robert Gordon Sproul cut out the day-today advisor, but okayed the advisory board.

The Daily Cal was up in arms. A petition condemning the whole business was circulated. Over 5000 students signed, but many of them didn't know if they were condemning the action of the executive committee, or merely their methods.

The bill is up for review in mid-May. Until then, the board continues to operate, and the whole affair is up in the air. Daily Cal advocates are afraid that if the board is maintained it may become so firmly entrenched that it will become a censor.—By Dale Tussing.

Active Air Force Military Service Positions Open

Many openings for active military service are now available to Air Force Reserve officers with educational backgrounds or military or civilian experience in industrial purchasing and production fields, according to Fourth Air Force Headquarters, Hamilton Air Force Base.

Because of limited Air Force resources for training officers in these specialized assignments, the USAF will be required to fill these openings with reserve officers who have acquired the necessary industrial knowledge through educational, military, or civilian training experience.

USAF reserve officers interested in active military service in industrial production and allied fields are advised to complete an Air Force Form 125 (Aplication for extended Active Duty), and forward it, together with supporting documents required, to the area Air Force Headquarters or Reserve District Headquarters, 870 Market Street, San Francisco, where their reserve records are held.

Ballot For Military Ball Queen Lists Most Attractive Candidates of the Year

Not to be outdone by all the election fuss being kicked up around the nation, the Air Force ROTC is holding an election of its own. Their candidates have much more appeal than any the Democrats or the Republicans can possibly muster, however, for the cadets are in the midst of electing a queen for the Military Ball on April 9.

The six girls selected for the finals are Jan Franklin, Beverly Halberg, Ann Perkins, Susie Poulton, Gloria Sanchez and Pat Strohmeyer. Each of the publicity managers for the girls is digging in for a real old fashioned vote-getting campaign, so the contest should prove to be interesting.

VOTING TUESDAY

Although the voting will take place next Tuesday, the name of the girl who is finally elected won't be announced until the night of the dance. There she will be officially crowned queen of the Military Ball, and will then reign over an expected crowd of some 500 people. Among those invited for her court are some of the "big brass" from State, the Fourth Air Force, and Treasure Island.

Those in the "big brass" category, if the invitation list is any indication, will include President J. Paul Leonard, Major General William E. Hall, commanding general of the Fourth Air Force, and some dozen and a half colonels, lt. colonels, majors, and captains. Gad, we're outranked!

AIR FORCE BAND

After wading waist deep through stacks of red tape and regulations, co-chairman Ron LeRoy was notified that the Hamilton Air Force Base dance band, the Hamilton Jets, will be available for the dance. This 14 piece group, which plays the Glenn Miller type of music, is a very popular band at the field and has played for various Air Force functions in all the western states under the Fourth Air Force command.

Among the other attractions of the dance is the building itself. Located on the west side of Treasure Island among a group of palm trees, it commands a very scenic view of San Francisco and both bridges. It has an old fashioned patio-garden in back, complete with lanterns in the trees and shaded walkways. All in all, it should be a big night.—By DeVon Stanfield.

TV Show Rated 'Best'

"The Unconquered," a religious television show produced by State's Radio-TV Guild on KPIX-TV on March 23, was "the best of the series," according to Al Sturges, producer of the show.

The script, submitted by the Lakeshore Avenue Baptist Church of Oakland, told the story of man's desperate struggle for faith in the midst of despair, and the attainment of the faith through the resurrection of Christ.

Featured in the cast were Dick Orton, Flora Spergel, Jon Goodmans and Carol Bjostad.

The next show, scheduled to be telecast by KPIX at 1:30 p.m., Sunday, May 12, is entitled "The Way of the Cross." It is the story of the crucifixion, adapted from a script by Dorothy Clarke Wilson.

FORENSICS IN FULL SWING

Speakers Plan For COP Tournament

Mid-semester finds the San Francisco State College forensic activities in full swing, according to Dr. Wayne Britton, State College Debate Sponsor. So far, student debaters have participated in a number of speech activities such as roundtable discussions, radio discussions and debates. Many more interesting activities are planned for this semester, said Britton. State College speakers will participate in the forthcoming speech tournament, which will be held at College of the Pacific on April 8 and 9. Dr. Britton stated that he intends to send students to participate in oratory, debate, extemporaneous, and impromptu speaking, as well as panel discussions at this tournament, which is sponsored by the Pi Kappa Delta Debate Fraternity. State College debaters have also participated in the Northern California Forensic Association's "University Platform of the Air," which is broadcast over radio station KCBS on Saturdays at 2 p.m. State students are also expected to compete in the annual Hearst Oratorical Contest, which will be held in April.

San Francisco State College is one of the foremost members of the Northern California Forensic Association. This group consists of: University of San Francisco, University of California, University of Santa Clara, San Jose State College, College of the Pacific, Stockton College, City College of San Francisco and St. Mary's College. Although most of State College's debate activities are centered around the NCFE program, State debaters also participate in independent debates and discussions.

State College speakers will also participate in the forthcoming semi-annual NCFA Student Congress, which will be held at City College on May 3. The Student Congress consists of 12 members from each competing school. It is patterned after the National Congress with a senate and house of representatives. Each school submits two bills which are, if passed by committee, debated in the house and senate.

Debate activities at State College are open to all qualified students, whether or not they are registered in debate classes. Any student desiring to participate in this activity can obtain further information from Dr. Wayne Britton in Room 206.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 38...THE WOLF

"MOST OF THEM AREN'T WORTH HOWLING ABOUT!"

Sharp character on campus — he's not easily duped by deceptive devices! From the onset of the tricky cigarette tests, he knew there was one true test of mildness. Millions of smokers throughout America have learned, too!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke, on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests . . .
